

MYSTERY OBJECT—A 20½-pound, 10-inch chunk of burned metal found imbedded in a street on the northern edge of the business district in Manitowoc is thought to be a part of the Boeing Stearman which entered the Lallensack holds a plaster cast made of the depression formed in the road and Police Chief Elmer Scherer examines fragments of charred metal which were lying around the main mass. The lower photo is a police record